

"WHAT WOULD THEY HAVE ME CUT?
WHAT WOULD THEY HAVE ME LEAVE OUT?"

BUDGET

HOUSE REPUBLICANS

REP. JASON SMITH, REPUBLICAN LEADER

When asked to defend a massive spending agenda, President Biden said:

"What would they have me cut? What would they have me leave out?"

We are glad you asked, Mr. President.

Tree Talk

Last year, the EPA funneled $5.25 million from the Biden Bailout Bill into its "Environmental Justice Small Grants Program":

"A review of the 2021 awards, however, shows that the program funded grants for some projects that had virtually little to do with addressing COVID-19 or the effects of the pandemic."

You don't say.

Among last year's recipients:

"Massachusetts-based organization Speak for the Trees for a project utilizing 'storytelling' and 'tree walks,'...aimed to 'increase awareness and dialogue surrounding inequitable tree canopy cover and its implications on the health of residents living in [environmental justice] communities.'"

The trees already have the Lorax. The question is: who in the Biden Administration will speak for the American taxpayer?

Stay tuned for more.
