

Council for Citizens Against Government Waste – Tom Schatz – Statement of Support

“Reckless and irresponsible government spending has increased the national debt to an unsustainable level, posing both a fiscal and national security crisis. The House Budget Committee’s budget resolution would help to end this spendthrift behavior and restore fiscal sanity to Washington. The plan would balance the federal budget, lower interest payments on the national debt by $3 trillion, and reduce deficits by $16.3 trillion over the next decade. It would also reduce waste, fraud, and abuse saving current and future generations from the consequences of out-of-control government spending. Fiscally responsible representatives should vote in favor of this budget resolution.”

– Tom Schatz, President, Council for Citizens Against Government Waste.
